

Thomas Sesler

tom@straydesign.co | straydesign.co | linkedin.com/in/tom-sesler

Hi — I'm Tom Sesler, a designer who likes to see the work go live.

This past year I ran a one-person studio and got three real businesses online end to end — a neighborhood bar & grill, a local aquarium shop, and a bar whose site now does over 2,000 visitors a month. I won them by walking in and pitching cold. For each one I designed the brand, got the site launched, and handed the owner a simple setup they keep updated themselves. I've designed and pitched 15+ more concepts on top of that, and I shoot and edit the photography myself.

So I've shipped on my own, a lot. But alone is the limit. What I want now is a team — other designers to tear the work apart, push it, and help me get better faster than I can by myself. That's why I'm reaching out.

It's all at straydesign.co. Thanks for the look.

— Tom