

Thomas Sesler

tom@straydesign.co | straydesign.co | linkedin.com/in/tom-sesler

Hi — I'm Tom Sesler, a product and web designer.

Here's what gets me up: taking a business from a rough idea all the way to a real, live site they actually run on. This past year I've done exactly that as a one-person studio — I design the brand, build the site, and hand the owner a simple system they can keep updated themselves. Real businesses, real sites: a bar & grill, a bar that's now over 2,000 visitors a month, an aquatics shop — plus 15+ concepts I designed and pitched on my own. I shoot and edit the photography too, because I care about the whole thing looking right.

I've proven I can deliver solo. What I want now is a team — other designers to critique the work, push it, and keep me growing faster than I can alone. That's the honest reason I'm reaching out.

Everything's at straydesign.co. Thanks for taking a look.

— Tom